CEO tours our secondary schools:

This summer our CEO, Dr Andrew Campbell, had a series of fact-finding tours of our schools, talking to students, visiting lessons in full flow and seeing examples of best practice. He really enjoyed meeting everyone and seeing our schools in action. Thank you to everyone who made his visits so enjoyable - here's just a few of the highlights!

Dr Campbell spoke to members of staff in different departments, including PE, Art and the Library during his visit to Kettering Science Academy. He also talked to Sixth Formers about their career ambitions and Year 10 students on the challenges they have faced on the Duke of Edinburgh's Award scheme.

Dr Campbell was welcomed to Corby Technical School by students and Principal Angela Reynolds. They discussed the benefits of being a small school and its plans to grow. They also talked about its technical GCSE options and extra-curricular activities, including residential trips and the CREST award. He also met members of support staff before seeing a variety of lessons and plans for the new Sixth Form, which starts in September.

Principal Mr Kirkbride and Vice Principals Mr Simon Underwood and Mr Shaun Strydom welcomed Dr Campbell to Brooke Weston Academy, along with the newly appointed Head Boy and Head Girl, who discussed their roles and plans for university. Dr Campbell saw science experiments, Sixth Formers students on the Duke of Edinburgh Award scheme, NQTs, Young Sports Leaders and the Performing Arts department. He even met best-selling novelist Dan Freedman who was giving a talk to students.

Corby Business Academy

Corby Business Academy's Head Boy and Girl escorted Dr Campbell on his visit. He saw the CCF Headquarters and cadets before going to the Unit provision, complete with sensory room, classrooms, allotment and chickens. He also met members of the Academy's award winning concert band and quizzed Sixth Formers about what they thought of the school. He also met 'School Librarian of the Year' Amy McKay, and new Associate Principal Ms Janina Taylor.

Thomas Clarkson Academy

Dr Campbell toured classrooms and faculties at Thomas Clarkson Academy, accompanied by Vice Principal Mr Richard Scott. He spoke to students in the science lab and heard about the school's many recent sporting successes.
